The secret teachings of all ages summary.

The Secret Teachings of all ages is the long about 700 pages Magnus Opus of Manly P. Hall. The book wears the subtitle: An encyclopedic line of Masonic, hermetic, Qabbalistic and Rosicrucian symbolic philosophy – Being an interpretation of the hidden secret teachings within the Rituals, Allegories and Mysteries of all ages. Each of the nearly 50 chapters is so dense with information that is the equivalent of a whole short book. If you read this book in its entirety you will be in a good position to immerse yourself in subjects such as Qabbala, Alchemy, Tarot, Ceremonial Magic, Neo-Platonic Philosophy, the Religions of the Mystery, and the theory of Rosicrucianism and Masonry. Although there are some questionable and controversial parts of the book, such as obsolete material on Islam, the portion on Bacon-Shakespeare hypothesis, and Hall conspiracy theory on history as led by an elite cabal of roving immortals, are very overwhelmed by the complete information here on other subjects. For many years this book has been available only in a large edition of printing that has been difficult to get and very expensive. From the introduction of the author: “The work on the text of this volume was started on the first day of January 1926, and continued almost continuously for over two years. Most research work, however, was carried out before writing the manuscript. The collection of reference material began in 1921, and three years after the plans for the book took definitive form. For clarity, all notes have been removed, the various quotes and references to other authors who are embodied in the text in their logical order. The bibliography is mainly attached to help those interested in selecting the most authoritative and important elements that deal with philosophy and symbolism for the future study. To make the book’s extrusion information easily accessible, a topical cross-index is included. I do not claim neither the infallibility nor the originality of any statement contained in this document. I studied the fragmentary writings of the ancients sufficiently to realize that the dogmatic expressions related to their tapestries are worse than nonsense. Traditionalism is the curse of modern philosophy, especially that of European schools. While many of the statements contained in this treaty may appear wildly fantastic at first, I sincerely tried to refrain from haphazard metaphysical speculation, presenting the material as far as possible in the spirit rather than the letter of the original authors. Assuming responsibility only for the errors that may appear here, I hope to escape the accusation of plagiarism that has been turned against almost every writer on the subject of themystical. Having no particular aspect of my promulgation. I did not attempt to twist the original writings to justify the preconceived notions, nor distorted distortedin every attempt to reconcile the unconcilable differences present in the various systems of religio-philosophical thought.” Download the illustrated public domain version of The Secret Teachings of All Ages here (675 pages / 14.9MB): Secret Teachings of All Ages LightSail includes up to 6,000 high interest, Lexile R lined book titles with each student subscription.
